Indiana in the Knights of Pythias Drills-Indianapolis' Chances for the Encampment.

Ex-Mayor Denny returned from the K. of P. encampment at Milwaukee, yesterday. "The encampment of the members of the Uniform Rank," he said, in talking with a reporter, "was a decided success. The attendance was larger than at any previous meeting of the order, and the street parade given on Tuesday was pronounced by many to be the greatest display of uniformed men that has occurred in this country since the close of the war. The contest for the prizes in division drills was very spirited. there being more entries than ever before. Captain Many's division, of this city, and the New Albany division were the only ones competing from Indiana. They both did splendidly, but many others did good work also, and I would not hazard a guess as to which one will carry off the prize. "The Indiana men," continued the ex-Mayor, "have made a strong fight for the next session of the Supreme Lodge and encampment of the Uniform Rank, and I think the chances are very good for Indianapolis. Our supreme Representatives, Harry Francis, of Michigan City, and Charles E. Shiyely, of Richmond, will do all they can to have Indianapolis selected. They and General Carnahan will stay to take care of that matter until it is settled, which will probably not be till next week. The far East is claiming the right to have the next session held there, and if it should be so decided, Boston will most likely be the place selected. The Supreme Lodge has many important questions to settle this session, and will not likely get through with its work for a week yet."

FOOTINGS OF THE CENSUS

Approximate Figures of the Supervisor as to the Population of the City.

Reports from Seven Districts Yet to Be Received, but with Them Estimated There Are Nearly 165,000 People Here.

The official ngures of the Indianapolis enumeration will not be complete before the last of next week. Supervisor Conger has made an approximate estimate that the population of this city will be between 105,-000 and 107,000. There are seven districts in the city that have not yet been reported, but these will be finished in three or four days. Mr. Conger says the enumeration has been done with great thoroughness, and that it is doubtful if any city in the United States of anything near the same size has been gone over with more exactness. Every complaint of persons having been overlooked, he further says, has been attended to. Many of these complaints, although made upon the merest rumor or gossip, have been thoroughly investigated. "This has been the most exasperating part of the work of enumeration," continued Mr. Conger, "and no amount of pains-taking care has served to mitigate the scolding of the fault-finders."

The enumerators' districts in this city are not defined strictly according to precinct or ward boundaries. Many of them include complete precincts, while others, especially those in the business part of the city, cover wards. Mr. Conger, therefore, has not as yet arranged the returns according to wards but the approximation of popular wards, but the approximation of popula-tion, based on the completed returns from the districts, is as follows:

| District. | Population. | District. | Population |
|-----------|-------------|-----------|------------|
| 1 | 3.100 | 34 | 1.10 |
| 2 | | 35 | 1.200 |

| 31 | 1,493 | 62 | 1.50 |
| 32 | 765 | 63 | 1,100 |
| 33 | 1,749 | 66 | 700 |
| m.s.I | | | 00 0= |

Of course, these returns are yet to be revised in Washington, and before that is done will be gone over again by Mr. Conger, so there is a chance of more additions. The incomplete districts are the Eighth, Thirteenth, Seventeenth, Twenty-eighth, Thirtieth, Fifty-sixth and Fifty-eighth, A comparison of the estimated population of each of these districts, with the footings of the daily reports sent in by the enumerators gives the following:

| Districts. | Daily report. | Estimated |
|----------------|-----------------|-----------|
| Eighth | 1.984 | 2,100 |
| Thirteenth | 1,639 | 1,750 |
| Seventeenth | 1,483 | 1,500 |
| Twenty-eighth | 1,568 | 1,600 |
| Thirtieth | 1,030 | 1,500 |
| Fifty-sixth | 1,070 | 1,200 |
| Fifty-eighth | 1,371 | 1,240 |
| Total | 10,145 | 10,890 |
| In the Thirtee | nth district no | report he |

In the Thirteenth district no report has been received for several days, and Supervisor Conger will look up the report today. The above tables give 104,761, but the returns yet to be added may bring the figures up sufficiently to run the population to 105,000 or 107,000.

Mr. Conger's district includes a large part of the natural-gas region, in which the population in the cities has wonderfully increased. Besides this several of these small cities have had the same enterprise that characterized Chicago as to the enumeration, and have taken large stretches of country within their corporate limits in order to add to their population. Indianapolis has done nothing of this kind. It has added no suburban village or town, and practically covers little more territory than it did in 1880, when it had 75,000 inhabitants. Touching the city on all sides, growing into it, and really a part of it, are villages and towns that are thickly populated and are now called Indianapolis, but cannot be counted in the census because they have not been formally annexed. With West Indianapolis, Haughville, North Indianapolis and Brightwood added, as should have been done with other contiguous population, this city would have shown about 125,000 residents. It may be some satisfaction to know that it will all be made right in time, and ten years from now these suburban. know that it will all be made right in time, and ten years from now these suburban, places will have then been added, and the growth will appear enormous when compared with the present census.

THE SUMMER MISSION WORK.

Tents Will Be Up To-Day Ready for Reception of Patients at Fairview Park on Monday.

The committee in charge of the grounds tendered by Mr. Shafter to the Summer Mission for Children went out to Fairview Park, yesterday afternoon, and selected the spots on which the tents will be erected. Rev. O. C. McCulloch will go there this morning with a force of men and a carpenter to complete arrangements for Monday morning. A man has been employed and given police powers to guard the property and protect the attendants and patients during the day. There are six tents already secured, but they are small. The committee desire a large tent of the pavilion style for shade and a general shelter. The responses to the applications for funds have been readily answered, and up to last night $850 had been subscribed. The following was received at the mission rooms yesterday: The Model, $25; J. E. Ludlum, $2; Mrs. S. F. Smith, $2; Nathan Marris 210; Rev. Los A. Milharn, $10; a lit.

Morris, $10; Rev. Jos. A. Milburn, $10; a little sick girl, $2; Henry Schnull, $10; U. S. Encaustic Tile-works, $10. The contribution from the little sick girl was sent by a little girl who is spending the heated spell at Lake Maxinkuckee. In addition to money contributions and tents, provisions have been sent in, and the No. 5 engine-house gave five hammocks, made by the firemen. Mr. Shaffer has extended his offer of free transportation so as to allow any patient sent out to the park by the mission to ride from any part of the city to the Union Station, where the electric trains can be taken. The first day of operations in this good work will be Monday.

A Large Steel-Rail Contract. Carnegie & Co., of Pittsburg, sent a representative, W. D. Lindsay, to Indianapolis to close a contract with President M. E. Ingails, of the Big Four, for several thousand tons of steel rails. Mr. Lindsay concluded the deal and departed for Chicago last night. It involves a large amount of money, and it is understood that the price to be paid by the Big Four company is $31 per ton, the at No. 175 Central avenue.

entire lot to be delivered in the early fall.
"The market on steel rails," said Mr.
Lindsay, last evening, "continues strong, and excepting on large contracts we get the highest figure for our product. Al-though it is supposed to be the dull season with us, we have plenty of work on hand. Our mills have turned out rails for about all the big railroad lines of the country. You see, our capacity is something enormous, and when the Edgar Thomson and the Homestead mills are in full operation the output is great, and eats up big contracts about as rapidly as we can make them."

A LITTLE GIRL'S BRAVE DEFENSE.

Assaulted by a Ruffian, She and Her Dog, After a Fierce Struggle, Drive Him Into Hiding.

Great excitement has prevailed among the farmers south of the city since Monday night, over a brutal outrage attempted upon the youngest daughter of Eli Conger, who is a brother-in-law of Captain Bruce, of the Metropolitan police. Through the efforts of the latter the matter was kept quiet, in hopes of finding the villain. It was thought he was located yesterday, and Captain Bruce and detective Page the man, and brought him before the little girl, but she at once said he was not the assailant. Another man has since been under surveillance, and he will have to subject himself to iden-

The story, as related by Captain Bruce last night, is that on Monday evening, at 6 o'clock, the girl, who is thirteen years old, started, as was her custom, to drive in the cows. Her course lay along the river, and there she saw a man rowing in a skiff. She watched him disappear around the bend, and then turned to pet a favorite coit, grazing near her path. She carried in her hand a short heavy club, to protect herself against a heavy club, to protect herself against a vicious cow in the herd, which would sometimes attack her and had to be beaten off times attack her and had to be beaten off with a stout stick. As she was fondling and petting the colt, with her arms about his neck, she suddenly felt herself rudely seized, and, turning her head, found herself in the grasp of the man she had seen in the boat. He had landed just around the bend, and sneaked up behind her ere she had discovered him. She screamed and struggled, but her assailant drew a long knife, and began to drag her away. She began then to use her club, and in desperation delivered fierce blows upon the rascal's head. He then plied the knife on her arm which wielded the club, cutting as many as twenty gashes between the elbow and the wrist in his effort to disable her.

effort to disable her.

But notwithstanding her vigorous resistance the fight would have been against her ance the fight would have been against her had not the farm dog, a big fellow of the shepherd species, appeared and begun to defend his young mistress. The dog caught the assailant's leg and tore it badly. Between the blows from the club wielded by the girl and the bites of her canine protector the villain let go his hold upon her and ran. The little girl then rushed home, and fainted as she drew near the house. When she was restored and the truth became known the neighborhood organized a search, and at once called hood organized a search, and at once called in Captain Bruce. No effort is being spared to find and punish the wretch.

LISTENING TO STATEMENTS.

The Big Four and Baltimore & Ohio Officers Speak Relative to Tax Valuations.

The State Board of Equalization met yesterday to hear statements from officers of the Big Four system. The principal one made was that of Mr. Ingalls, who said he did not ask consideration because the system is losing money, but because it is not. He only wanted to explain the condition of the Indianapolis, Bloomington & Western property, which recently came to be a part of the Big Four. This line has, he said, 340 miles of track, and in the company's effort to pay $700,000 annual pany's effort to pay $700,000 annual fixed charges the road had been allowed to run down. Its rolling stock is so insufficient that it paid $11,000 last month to the Big Four for use of the latter's cars and engines. The Big Four had taken the road on condition that the fixed charges should be reduced, and they were now but $412,000. By turning over to the road part of the Big Four's business its earnings had begun to increase. He charged the ruin of the road to the interstate-commerce bill. He thought $6,000 per mile for the western division and $4,000 for the eastern division would be a proper valuation. Concerning the Chicago, Vincennes & Cairo road he said the main line in Illinois is assessed at $3,700 per mile, while the ten-mile branch in Indiana, in a swampy region, is assessed in Indiana, in a swampy region, is assessed at $5,500 per mile. This was suggested as an injustice.

J. Ramsay spoke for the Union Railway Company. He said the valuation of $150,000 on the Union Railway Station last year, and the $60,000 per mile of track is not objected to, but that is as high as contiguous property is assessed. To increase it would work an injustice. The Baltimore & Ohio company made a statement in the afternoon, protesting against raising last year's valuation. Vice-president W. W. Peabody, General Passenger Agent C. K. Lord, O. P. McCarty and S. D. Penneman represented that company at the meeting.

Service Pension Association.

The meeting of the Service Pension Association, in the Criminal Court room, last night, was well attended. Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

President-William C. Lamb. First Vice-president—Captain Tartington. Second Vice-president—Samuel Sawyer. Secretary—D. M. Osborn. Treasurer—Jacob L. Bieler.

The president was chosen by a vote of ninety-eight to twenty-eight, the latter being cast for Captain Wirt. The election being over, the rest of the evening was spent in hearing speeches from Robert W. Medkirk and George W. Spahr.

A Champion of Chess.

W. H. Wilhelm has won the championship in the special tournament of the Indianpolis Chess Club, which has just closed, after three weeks' playing. The tournament was held to determine who should represent the club in the championship class of the Indiana State Chess Tournament, which will take place in this city next month. Mr. Withelm played fif-teen games with five antagonists, and made a clean sweep, winning every game,

Searching for a Brother. Mr. John Brown, of Albany, N. Y., was in the city yesterday in search of his brother, who suddenly disappeared three years ago, and was afterward heard of here. The missing man was a member of the Grand Army. Mr. Brown is making a search of public records through fear that he became insane or died without knowledge of his friends.

Did Not Collect the Fee.

The trustees of West Indianapolis ordered the marshal of that town to collect $50 license fee for their show from Barnum & Bailey. When the demand was made the marshal was laughed at for his pains. The show-ground lies altogether in Indianola, and the West Indianapolis trustees evidently did not know the corporation limits of their town.

A Liar Left in the Lurch When He Referred to Mr. McLain for Proof of a False Statement.

Yesterday afternoon a Journal reporter met Moses G. McLain. He had a copy of the Sentirel in his hand, and there was a glitter in his eye betokening that he had something to say. "These lies," said Mr. Mc-Lain, pointing to some article in the paper, "are base, open, palpable, but they should be answered."

"To what do you refer?" inquired the re-

"To this letter from the Sentinel's Washington correspondent concerning President Harrison and Dan M. Ransdell. I have sent a letter to the Sentinel and here is a copy of it." The copy reads as fol-

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Sentinel: I see in your issue of the 11th inst. a purported interview by your Washington correspondent with a member of the Seventieth Regiment, Indiana Volunteers, wherein he refers to me as to the accuracy of his statements. I wish to say that the interview, so far as it relates to the colonel of that regiment, is wholly untrue. Col. Benjamin Harrison commanded our regiment in the battle where Mr. Ransdell lost his arm, and the battle where Mr. Ransdell lost his arm, and where I lost mine, and from personal knowledge I can say that the Colonel was in the hottest of the fight, bravely and gallantly leading on his command to victory. The reference to Mr. Ransdell is untrue, as he never was a captain in the regiment, never holding a higher office while with the company than the honorable one of corporal. The only truth in the interview is that Dan lost his arm in battle. The so-called member of the Seventieth certainly never served with the command, or, if so, his memory and rewith the command, or, if so, his memory and regard for truth have greatly suffered by the lapse of time.

Moses G. McLain. Indianapolis, July 11, 1890.

"The correspondent's letter," continued Mr. McLain, "is false from first to last, but I only touch upon the one point. The assertion that Harrison 'galloped to the rear' is ridiculous. Even his enemies never charged him with cowardice, and not a member of his regiment but will laugh at such a charge. In every battle in which the regiment was engaged. General Har-rison, our colonel, was at the front. A more gallant officer never commanded a regiment. That stuff in the Sentinel was never suggested by any member of the regiment. That's a lie out of whole cloth, and a cowardly lie, as the name of the authority is not given. At the battle of Resacs, one of the hottest contests in which the regiment ever engaged, General Harrison. as usual, was at the front, leading his men and gave direction and assistance in capturing four cannon. These were the only pieces of artillery captured from the enemy in that entire campaign. Mr. Ransdell, as well as myself, was a member of Company G of the Seventieth Indiana. He was a brave soldier, always ready for duty, but as I say in my letter, he never got to be anything higher than a corporal." gallant officer never commanded a regi-

Three Possibilities and Every Democrat's Friend Discuss the Coming Campaign.

A quartet of Democratic politicians occupied a cool corner of the Grand Hotel office last evening and discussed the possibilities of the approaching campaign from a Bourbon stand-point. The quartet comprised candidate McCormack, of Columbus; candidate Fanning and Leon Bailey, of this city, and Alonzo Green Smith, of North Vernon, who is out for the attorney-generalship. They were busily engaged in telling each other just how big the Democratic majority is going to be this fall. Joe Fanning was murmuring in soft undertones to A. Green that it would be fatal to nominate George Pleasants for Supreme Court Clerk for the reason that what the ticket needed was a strong man from Marion county, Switzerland county being too little to cut any figure. As McCormack can talk of nothing but the marvelous race he is making for Treasurer, Leon Bailey had no show to interest the Columbus statesman injunything else, so he listened like a martyr. It was finally concluded by the four representatives of straight-out Democracy that the party had what in sporting parlance is known as an "air-tight cinch" on a victory this coming fall. While it might be necessary to do a little work as a matter of form, no great exertion would be necessary, and the advantages of being one ticket in such a campaign could, therefore, readily be seen. If Democratic nominees ever managed to get through without spending all they could rake, scrape and borrow, it was determined that they would do so this fall. After having informally adopted an unrecorded resolution to that effect, the quartet adjourned down-stairs. this city, and Alonzo Green Smith, of CATHCART-CLELAND CO., 26 East Washington Street.

William Schoppe, keeper of a saloon known as "Six Points," on Virginia avenue, was robbed of $57 yesterday afternoon by a slick game. One of the men jumped out and called to Schoppe that the other wanted to see him about some carpenter The accommodating saloonwork. his bar unprotected, keeper and went out to the sidewalk. In the meantime the other man sneaked back of the bar, seized a tin box containing $51 and the money-drawer, containing, Schoppe thinks, about $6 in silver. The conversation outside was brief, and when the thief returned to the buggy he got in with his companion, and the two drove rapidly down street. Their fast driving did not seem significant to Schoppe, until he discovered his loss, a few moments afterwards when his landlord came in to collect his rent. Failing to find the tin box the truth flashed upon him, but when he rushed out upon the street, the fellows were out of sight. This game was played several times last summer, and the detectives think the same parties are at work again.

John Wyatt Has Disappeared.

C. W. Perry, of H. B. Cole & Co., No. 62 South Pennsylvania street, notified the police yesterday to be on the lookout for John Wyatt, twenty-four years of age, who left his home, Tuscola, Ill., about six weeks ago, with a car-load of horses, and has not since been seen. It is supposed his mind became unsettled.

C. H. DITSON & CO., 867 Broadway, New York. NEW PENSION LAW.

THOSE WHO ARE ENTITLED UNDER THIS ACT—
Dependent Parents of all Soldiers who have died, leaving no widow or child: Provided the death of the soldier was the result of his military service.
Soldiers who are now Disabled from any cause, not due to vicious habits, and who served ninety days or more and were honorably discharged.

Dependent Widows and Children under sixteen years of age of all soldiers who served ninety days or more and were honorably discharged. Children under Sixteen years of age are entitled in their own right, if the widow is dead or has remarried. Children of deceased soldiers who are permanently belpiess by reason of disease, deformity, insanity or other cause, are entitled to pension during life, and can get a pension even if they are over sixteen years of age.

Persons drawing pension under the old law can take the benefit of the new.

Pension commences from the date of filing the application in the Pension Office.

We have had years of experience in prosecuting claims of this kind, and our facilities are not excelled by attorneys residing in Washington or elsewhere.

Write us fully in regard to your case, and we will give an opinion free of charge.
